Social Media and Election Violence. Correlation or Causation?

Project Title	Social Media and Election Violence. Correlation or Causation?
Project Summary	Apply data analytics to the relationship between extreme content on social media and election violence.
Country	United States

Project Description

Extreme content on social media is often associated with election violence.
This project will analyze social media data in order to determine the relation between inflammatory messages and citizen reaction. The analyst will monitor real-world elections to gather, organize and present findings from social media metadata and content.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Analytical writing
Data analysis
Data visualization
Social media management

Additional Information

None

Language Requirements

None